The musical score is written in treble clef with a key signature of one flat (Bb) and a 6/8 time signature. It consists of six staves of music. Chords are indicated by letters above the notes: C, G, F, Am, Bb, and F. The lyrics are placed below the notes, with hyphens indicating syllables that span across multiple notes. There are several long horizontal lines (underscores) under the lyrics, likely indicating where a singer should breathe or where a line of music continues on another page.
